ST. NICHOLAS HOTEL,

WHEN completed, six years ago, the ST. NICHOLAS was universally pronounced the most magnificent, convenient, and thoroughly organized establishment of the kind on this continent. What it was then, it remains te-daywithout a rival in size, in sumptuousness, and in the general elements of comfort and enjoyment. The Hotel has accommodations for 1,600 guests, including 100 complete suites of apartments for families. Six hundred persons can be comfortably seated at the tables of its three public dining rooms, and nothing that modern art has devised for the convenience and social gratification of the travelling public, has been omitted in its plan, or is neglected in its practical details. The early reputation of the house at home and abroad, derived from its magnitude, its superb appointments, and its home-like comforts and luxuries, has been enhanced every year by the unwearied exertions

MISCELLANEOUS READING. CONSTITUTIONAL ELECTION FOR PRES-

IDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT. As some inaccurate views of the method of chosing these high officers have been preway, and it was deemed prudent to return. | the exact words of the twelfth article of the amendment to the Constitution of the United States which provides for the emergency of a failure of the people to elect:

"The Electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for President and Vice President one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State, with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of shall in presence of the Senate and House and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on House of Representatives shall choose, immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote. A quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President shall be the Vice President, if such number be a majoriity of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list the Senate shall choose the vice President. A quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice President of the United States."

COMMUNICATED. LINES TO PRIEDLAND, the residence of the late

Lieutenant George Mason Hooe, U. S. Navy. Now, I see thee, shadowy Friedland, As I saw thee long ago, With thy groves of oaks and hickories, And thy cedars bending low. O! how soft, like snow descending,

On thee now the moonlight falls, 'Mid thy solemn arches bending, Shining o'er thy time bowed walls. Happy Friedland, blest abode, Of the lovely and the good ;

I can ne'er forget thee, never, Since within thy walls I've stood. I have lost thee, dear old Fieldland, Thou hast vanished from my sight : But thy shadows ne'er shall deepen

To the darkness of the night. Often in my twilight musings, Memory bears me back to thee; And each shady brook and meadow, With my faithful eye I see.

And the river gliding smoothly, Far below thy verdant hills; With a sense of quiet beauty, All the gazer's being fills. Blessings on the home of beauty,

Sleeping in a sunny clime; Blessings on thy hills and valleys, I invoke them in my rhyme! Far and wide my steps may wander, Fairer scenes may meet mine eyes;

But my heart will cherish ever, Memories of thy glorious skies. W. E. TAKE NOTICE. TO OWNERS OF DOGS. A LL PERSONS owning DOGS, of which they A may consider of any value, are hereby re-
